May - 2024

Glory to God and shame on the devil. With the veto-override days finished, the 2024 legislative session is now ended. When all is said and done, there was more said than done. With the law-making finished for the year, focus now turns to the upcoming primary elections on May 21st. Typically, there is a VERY low voter turnout for primary elections, especially ones on a non-gubernatorial election year. We have some great conservatives running, and some dirty skunks. I hope you'll do your part and maybe even put up a few signs for the good guys.

You might be like this lady and wondering:
Since you asked, here's a great tool for the discerning conservative voter.

The Family Foundation of Kentucky has an online scorecard at: <https://www.kentuckyfamily.org/scorecard/> where you can see how each legislator rates according to their voting record. Their actions speak louder than their words.

Of course, feel free to contact me if you have any questions. Believe it or not, some politicians will lie to you about their positions. "Surely not!" you say. Sadly, yes. There are ones right now claiming they are pro-life who are trying to expand abortion, and who say they are pro-gun yet pushed laws to take guns away. In these local-level elections, there are usually one or two elections decided by a single vote. Your vote could make all the difference in who wins. We see a Biblical principle for Christians to participate in elections in Exodus 18:21.

Ministry-wise, I've been counseling, praying with, and trying to help several of our solid Christian candidates. Praise God for those who have answered a call to serve their God and country by running for elected office. It is truly a ministry, when done the right way. As you can guess, the Christians in the election are under attack from both the world and the devil, but I know someone who's overcome the world, and as for the devil...he can sit on a tack. (If you ever sang VBS songs, then you know what I mean by that.)

With this being election year, it's the perfect time for a church to host a God & Country Day. This is when elected officials are invited to a special day to honor their public service and for the church to establish relationships with them. Contact me if you'd like to set one of these days up for your church.

The National Day of Prayer is May 2nd. We'll be having a special event at the Kentucky Capitol that day to mark the occasion. I'll be one of the guest speakers. The public is invited to attend, and I hope you'll be able to pray with us there. If you can make it...bring Twinkies. 😊
